Appendix III

ARTICLE FORMAT

GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS AND TEMPLATE

Length: between 5.000 and 8.000 words.

Font: Times New Roman 12 point.

Spacing: Single space; do not include blank returns between paragraphs. The \P symbol in the template indicates a return.

Margins: 2 cm; justified, flush left and right.

Indent: Do not indent the first paragraph of each section. Do indent the rest.

Section headings: Do not number section headings or subsection headings.

Numbering: Use a bullet point ■ to mark the first level of specificity and a dash to mark the second.

Footnotes: Number footnotes consecutively, and place them at the bottom of the page. Restrict footnotes to the necessary minimum. No bibliographic citations or references (including electronic sources) are allowed in footnotes.

Tables, Charts and Similar Graphics:

- Number all figures consecutively by type (tables, charts, etc.) with Roman numerals.
- All text inside figures must be clearly legible.
- Titles must make the figure's contents sufficiently clear. Place titles at the top of the figure.
- Diagrams, sketches, charts, tables and equations must be given in a format that can be edited, not an image format. Copy them from Microsoft Office Excel and paste them into the article in Word format as "Microsoft Office Excel graphic object" or as "Microsoft Office graphic object". These options are on the menu bar under "Paste special".
- If the diagram or chart is not in Excel format, you must create it directly in Word format.

Equations:

- Centre equations, separated from the main text by blank returns.
- Number equations with Arabic numerals between parenthesis, set flush with the right-hand margin.
- Refer to equations in the text by indicating the number of the equation to which you are referring.
